Excerpt: .throat burned with desire for its usual strong drink, and later became caked hard and dry for the want of moisture. but he pushed on toward a known spring, and willed that he would not turn back toward the accursed source of his debasement. Maddening thirst robbed him of his reason. and he wandered a maniac. tearing his hair and biting his arms. to suck moisture from his blood. Instinctively following the burro, he reached the spring. a pool worn in basalt which held but a gallon, supplied by a tantalizing drip, drip, drip from a crevice above. The burro having drained the pool. the man laid on his back to catch each drop as it fell, lingering a night and day between death and unconsciousness. and waking to curse and bless each life-giving drop, he slowly regained his reason and strength. As night...
